Stockmen's Notice.

To all owners and raisers of live stock in the Third Zone: You are invited and urged to attend a meeting of stock raisers of the Third or Southwestern Zone (as defined in the statute commonly known as the tick eradication law) to be held at San Antonio Saturday, Nov. 13, 1920, for the purpose of discussing ways and means of determining upon a plan of action to secure prompt and effective relief from tick infestation in the counties comprised in said zone. There are four counties in Zone Three, including Medina County. I had been under the impression that we would be required to clean up until 1922 according to a statement published in the S. A. Express recently by Board of Directors, Rural Land owners Association, we are required to begin eradication work next year (1921) and be cleaned up by 1st of January, 1922. Now I'm sure there will be a number of questions that we will submit in this meeting, and think it very important that all stockmen attend, by all means, and learn thereof things of importance.

I am respectfully,

M. T. SCHUCHART.

S. Don't forget the date. The meeting will be held in the ball room of the St. Anthony Hotel and will conclude at 9:30 a. m.

District Court.

The second week of the district court convened at the court house Monday morning, all the officials being present.
The $100,000 damage suit of Walter Koehler vs. W. L. Dubose et al, which was in the hands of the jury when we went to press last week, resulted in a mistrial, the jury being unable to arrive at a verdict. After deliberating for two days the jury was discharged by the court.

In the case of Andy Shuster vs.
George W. Hester et al., a judgement was returned by the Jury, but its real meaning is yet to be determined by the court.

State vs. Charles Quentin burglary.
Plea of guilty was entered, and punishment at two years in the penitentiary was assessed with suspended sentence.

State vs. Harry Post, burglary.
Same as above case.

State vs. Fernando Marcias, assault with attempt to commit murder.
Guilty and punishment assessed at five years in the penitentiary with suspended sentence.

State vs. Manuel Ganez, theft of over $50 value. In this case the court instructed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

State vs. Russell Trittle, theft of a hog. In this case the jury failed to agree and a mistrial was entered.

State vs. Benzelado Carrillo, rape.
Guilty and punishment assessed at eight years in the penitentiary.

The following jury served for the week: S. G. Carter, F. G. Senne, O. E. Lacy, R. J. Reilly, A. G. Walker, Ben de Grodt, L. J. Finger, Aug.
M. Koch, Oliver Reinhart, Eric Rothe,
Jacob H. Rothe, W. P. Crane, L. E.
Ward, F. A. Heyen, H. G. Wilson,
Jr., Henry Batot, F. S. Cockrell, J.
W. Griffin, P. R. Richter, J. G. Newton, Gus Keller, C. H. Hartman, R.
J. Zerr, Wm. H. Rackley.

The following were summoned as talesmen: Jack Fusselman, A. E.
Harper, Fred de Grodt, S. R. Coffey, Lome Wington, Aug. Weyand and C. R. Gaines.

Notice, Members of Red Cross.

Upon the request of many members of the Red Cross of Medina County, the officials of this organization have decided to offer a course of instruction in "Elementary Hygiene and Home Nursery."

The course embraces methods for nursing the sick and for the relief and prevention of suffering and disease.

The course will be conducted under the auspices and directions of Mrs.
Hurt. Mrs. Hurt needs no recommendation as to her ability in the sick room. She is thoroughly competent and efficient, and has had years of experience in the nursing field.

It is needless to emphasize the benefit of this home nursing course; so the Red Cross organization expects many of its members to take advantage of this opportunity.

The sole cost of the course will be the book of instructions which may be purchased from the chairman for forty cents.

All those who intend to take the course are requested to meet for the first meeting at the residence of Mrs.
Louis Rothe on November 3rd, 1920,
at 2:00 p. m.

MRS. R. J. DECKER.

Notice to Cream Producers.

Hereafter we will ship cream as usual, but will not do any testing here. The creamery will do the testing in San Antonio and send your checks to us for distribution. This we think will be more satisfactory to the customers, due to the fact that they are better prepared and have expert men to do the testing, and will pay 57c per pound for butter fat.
However, they will not accept less than 18 to 20 pounds from any one customer.

Auto Thieves.

Hondo is taking on metropolitan airs. Auto thieves have made their appearance here, and as a result of their visit Fritz Martin is minus a truck, and the Citizens' Motor Car Co.
have checked up a considerable shortage in auto accessories, principally tubes and casings. The thieves also drove the E. R. Leinweber Company's truck to the eastern edge of the town, but as the company had failed to have the gas tank filled the thieves realized, that a get-a-way with it was impossible, hence abandoned it as stated above.

Mr. Martin's truck was in good shape for a long journey as he had just had it put in shipshape for a contemplated hunt.

Parties are searching both east and west for thieves, but up to Friday night, so far as we are advised, no arrests had been made.

Income Tax Refunds.

Acting under instructions from Hon.
Ed. A. Christian, Collector of Internal Revenue, First District of Texas, the Chief Clerk in Charge of the Austin
Office issued the following statement:

It is deemed expedient to call the attention of taxpayers residing in the First Collection District of Texas to the conditions under which claims for refund may be filed, based on Community Property Ruling. It should first be remembered that taxpayers who filed returns upon which no surtax appeared will not be due a refund under the decision. Where surtax was paid, however, a division of the income will result in a lowering of the combined tax due by husband and wife.
Where it is desired to take advantage of the ruling, the taxpayer should request the Collector's Office at Austin to furnish him detailed instructions as to the proper procedure. Upon receipt of such request a mimeographed letter, giving instructions covering the exact procedure necessary, will be immediately furnished.

Where letter of instructions is received from the Collector's Office, it is believed that taxpayers will be able to prepare amended returns and claims without assistance from Federal Officers. However, employees in Claims Section of the Income Tax Division of the Austin Office and all field deputies will be given instructions to render taxpayers every assistance possible.
No claims should be prepared before detailed instructions are received from the Collector's Office, outlining proper procedure.

(Signed) B. B. DU BOSE,
Chief Clerk in Charge Collector's Office, Austin, Texas.

M. T. Schuchart of Cliff was in town Wednesday and was a visitor at this office. He did not stay long, however, as he seemed to think he could find more congenial company about Quibi. In fact it is said even his car is so well trained that he can crank up, jump in the machine and it will head for the Quibi section without a guiding hand on the steering wheel.

Dr. Bradley has been figuring all week trying to determine just how he will stand. He was the loser by fire of a wagon load of seed cotton. Of course if only the cotton had burned he could figure himself ahead but the cotton was on his wagon, and it too is now a heap of twisted iron and ashes, consequently he is somewhat behind, taking the proposition as a whole. While it is not definitely known just how the fire started it is probable a cigarette is responsible for this diminution of the cotton crop.

Have We Done It?

IT has been the aim, both of the Kirschbaum Shops and of ourselves, to offer in Kirschbaum Clothes the best values obtainable. A big job, that. And neither of us have spared any effort or sacrifice to do it. Have we succeeded?

Men who have seen these wonderful values in Kirschbaum Clothes at $40 to $75 say "Yes!" We'd like to hear your verdict, too!

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

The Ford Sedan, with electric starting and lighting system, demountable rims with 3 1/2-inch tires all around, is the ideal family car because of its general utility and refined and comfortable equipment. Finely upholstered. Plate glass windows. An open car in the spring, summer, and early fall. A closed car in inclement weather and winter. Rain-proof, dust-proof. In the city or the country, a family car. The low cost of operation and maintenance is not the least of its charms. Won't you come in and look it over?

Girls ARE "IT".

Hondo 24; Sabinal 17.

On Friday, Oct. 22, when the 12:55 train arrived, most of the High School pupils and faculty boarded it to Sabinal, where match games had been scheduled in basket-ball and foot-ball.

At 2:30 the whistle was blown for the girls' basket-ball game. In a few seconds of play Hondo Hi showed her superiority over the Sabinal "Yellow Jackets." During the first half the ball was in Hondo's hands nearly all of the time. Sabinal just couldn't stand up with our girls. The score at the end of the half was 14 to 3, in Hondo's favor.

Sabinal had received spirit somewhere during the intermission and came back strong. However, this made no difference to our girls and they kept up the good work. During this half Sabinal found control and it seemed as if she meant to do something and with foul goals brought her score up steadily. But Hondo was doing the same thing and at the end of the game the score stood 24-17.

The whole team did fine work, and the team-work shown is the best yet. Jessie Blocker may be singled out as the best player in this game, using both headwork and pep. She received the box of candy awarded by Mrs. Hutzler to the best player. Sabinal's best playing was done by Nedra Bell (center), and Iline Jones (forward).

Just to show how completely Hondo outclassed her opponents we give the following points:

Hondo's score was made almost totally by field goals, while Sabinal made her score through foul goals.

During the greater part of the game the ball was in Hondo's hands.

Hondo dazzled Sabinal with her passing.

Sabinal's guards could not do anything against our dandy forwards.

CHEERFUL WORDS

For Many a Hondo Household.

To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove helpful to hundreds of Hondo readers.

Mrs. P. H. Renken, tinsmith, Hondo, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills and they have been used by others in my family with the best of results. My kidneys were disordered and acted irregularly. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and in this way I first became acquainted with their merits and started to use them. One box of Doan's entirely removed the trouble."

ALWAYS GETS GOOD RESULTS.

The above statement was given May 29, 1915, and on May 5, 1919, Mrs. Renken said: "I am just as firm a believer in Doan's Kidney Pills now as when I previously endorsed them. I use Doan's when my back or kidneys bother me and they always cure the attacks."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Renken had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

MacSwiney Dead.

Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, died at Brixton prison at London early in the morning last Monday. His death followed a hunger strike of over 73 days. He had been unconscious for several days and when the end came only his brother and Father Dominic, his private chaplain, were with him besides the doctors. MacSwiney was 48 years of age when he died. It is said that MacSwiney was given meat juice and brandy when unconscious and unable to resist. He had been in jail several times since January 1916 for political offenses as a patriot for the independence of Ireland. He leaves his wife, whom he married in 1916, and one son. His hunger strike began August 12th when he was arrested with ten of his associates while attending a Sinn Fein court. Two of these men died before MacSwiney as a result of their refusing to take food in jail.

You Do More Work.

You are more ambitious and you get more enjoyment out of everything when your blood is in good condition. Impurities in the blood have a very depressing effect on the system, causing weakness, listlessness, nervousness and sickness.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.

GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC is not a patent medicine. It is simply IRON and QUININE suspended in Syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs Quinine to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. These reliable tonic properties never fail to drive out impurities in the blood.

The Strength-Creating Power of GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC has made it the favorite tonic in thousands of homes. More than thirty-five years ago, folks would ride a long distance to get GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC when a member of their family had Malaria or needed a body-building, strength-giving tonic. The formula is just the same today, and you can get it from any drug store. 50c per bottle.

NEW AND OLD FRIENDSHIPS

Writer Makes Assertion That Fresh Acquaintanceships Have Tendency to Make Life Brighter.

As a rule so-called old friends are simply those we have known from our youth. We know all about them and they know all about us. If you have succeeded in life, and they have not, they envy you, and if you have not succeeded and they have, they simply pity or ignore you.

With new acquaintances it is different. They come fresh upon the scene. You take each other at face value and each puts forward the best foot. You do not undertake to inquire into the past, but discuss the present and future. In this way you interest each other and your hearts do really burn within you.

With old friends it is different. You are constantly bringing up the past, much of which both of you would like to forget. With new acquaintances we are apt to look upon the new and bright side of life; with the so-called old friends we are apt to dwell upon past events, and it is not always the brightest outlook. New acquaintances revive us, brighten up our mentality; we take a new and brighter view of life.—Exchange.

FIND ALTAR ROOM OF AZTECS

Interesting Discovery in Pueblo Ruin in New Mexico Has Recently Been Made.

The most satisfactory event to mark so far the work of the American Museum of Natural History in its excavation of the Pueblo ruin at Aztec, N. M., is the recent discovery of what was evidently the holiest shrine of this prehistoric people, records Popular Mechanics Magazine. It takes the form of a room, bare of furniture, but in perfect condition. The walls are plastered, and are painted in a glaring white with dull red borders and a frieze of triangular designs. On the ceiling beams are strange marks made by rubbing the palm and fingers in white paint, and then pressing them upon the wood. From these beams hang several strands of beautifully made rope, presumably for the support of some sacred objects. On the ceiling, too, is carved a serpent, two and one-half feet in length, and in design unlike anything known to the archeologists in charge.

COULDN'T TAKE HER IN CUP

"Honey" Was What the Youngster Was After, But Not in Quite Such a Generous Quantity.

Tommy Brown had not studied penmanship and his brain was like a sieve. When his mother told him to take a cup to the grocer's and get it filled with honey he heard what she said; but when he got to the grocer's he forgot what he had come for.

The grocer caught one article after another in the good-natured attempt to refresh his memory, but all to no avail. Then he turned to his plump wife and said:

"Honey, can you think what it might be?"

"That's it; that's it!" cried the boy, excitedly. "Honey! But, look here," he added, eyeing the business lady, "you'd better put her on my back and let me take her that way, for the cup wouldn't hold her."

A Regular One.

He was looking for a good canine companion, and had answered an advertisement in the newspaper. The following conversation ensued:

"You advertised a sensible dog for sale?"

"Yep."

"What do you mean by a sensible dog?"

"This pup has never had a ribbon around his neck and has never ridden in a limousine since the day he was born. He's a happy-hearted, bone-burying rat-chasing, 100 per cent dog."—Houston Post.

From Bad to Worse.

"I don't find so many people borrowing umbrellas and forgetting to return them," remarked the observant citizen.

"I believe the umbrella borrower was a less expensive friend," rejoined the man who is always lending for the old days. "What you've got to lead now is a taxicab fare all the way to the suburbs."

Sparing Her Feelings.

"The prima donna says she won't follow the trained chimpanzee."

"We can't change the bill just to please her," said the vaudeville manager. "Tell her to stay in her dressing room until time to go on and she won't know whether she's following a trained chimpanzee or a troupe of dancing seals."

Under Surveillance.

Mrs. Littlehat—Tilly, you've left my lingerie scattered all around this room and I'm expecting company any minute.

Tilly the Maid—That's all right, ma'am. I'll keep my eye on 'em and see they don't pinch each other.

Playing Safe.

"That fellow seems to have horse sense."

"Hub?"

"He keeps away from the races."

Then the Row Started.

Mrs. Scragg—My foot is asleep again.

Scragg—It's funny that it is never your tongue.

GAY LIFE LED BY EXPLORER

White Men Who Venture Into the Reaches of the Amazon Suffer From Stinging Insects.

When Dr. William C. Farabee of the University of Pennsylvania goes to the wilds of South America for specimens for the University of Pennsylvania museum he has to hack his way through jungles infested with swarms of stinging, disease-dealing insects, and to protect himself from these attacks has a special rig. The natives go naked in the forests and do not seem to mind greatly the pests that light upon them. They are probably sting-proof, but the white man is not. Doctor Farabee says that insects more than panthers or snakes make life unbearable along the Amazon or its wilder reaches.

The protective costume made Doctor Farabee look like a strange creature indeed. Thick, closely knit gloves with cuffs of canvas and netting reaching to his shoulders are of equal importance with a helmet of canvas draped with something that hangs over his head, neck and shoulders. These coverings are supplemented by the labors of two negro boys, who fan and brush away gnats and mosquitoes. There are, Doctor Farabee says, no satisfactory boots to be had for such work, certainly no waterproof ones. So he wears porous boots with heavy soles; thus the water, which gets in whatever the precautions, can get out as quickly as possible. The insects bite low down about the body, as well as attacking the head, neck and arms. In an endeavor to thwart them, Doctor Farabee drapes his legs to the knees with double thicknesses of mosquito netting. This gets slimy from the morasses and clings to him. Then insects bite through it and it must be changed frequently more than once a day.

India Increasing Its Wheat Crop.

India is going to take part of the burden of feeding Europe from the shoulders of the United States. The third official forecast of India's wheat crop for the current season 1919-20 shows an increase of 36 per cent in acreage planted and 34 per cent increase in yield. The prospective crop, according to these estimates, will be over 10,000,000 tons of wheat. Of course, the United States will have to supply considerable grain to Europe, but our own crops this year, particularly corn, which is fast gaining appreciation in Europe, are all of the bumper variety, and we will be glad to have a market for our surplus. The wheat crop of India is one of the most promising aspects of the awakening of that country, and an indication of its determination to place itself on a self-supporting basis.

Too Tame.

Old Sim Wilkins and Hec Denton were having their usual game of checkers in the back of Sim's old store, when Denton was called away, leaving the game unfinished. Just then a darkey, who did the delivering and other chores about the store, sloped in, hands in pockets. Wilkins suggested to him:

"George, sit down here and finish Denton's game for him. You know how to play checkers, don't you?"

"Yes, Ah knows how to play, boss, but" (he unconsciously withdrew his hands from his pockets and began fidgeting a pair of "bones") "Ah always considered checkers a lady man's game."—Publishers' Auxiliary.

Making Sure.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "I am glad to see you taking as much interest in politics as you formerly took in racing."

"It is the duty of every man and woman to take an interest in politics."

"Do you wish me to vote for the same candidate that you do?"

"Why shouldn't you?"

"I thought it might be a good idea for me to vote for the other one. It would be a satisfaction to feel that one or the other of us has at last succeeded in picking a winner."

He Knew Whereof He Spoke.

A school teacher was visiting the boy scout camp at Kinneumapooce a few weeks back. The boys were feeding her with blackberries and in every way trying to make her enjoy her visit. One little fellow, more interested than the others, gave her the following advice:

"And say, while you're here you want to get good and tanned. You won't have to wash your neck and ears then, for the dirt doesn't show."—Indianapolis News.

Not Qualified.

"A reporter wishes to see you, sir."

"What does he want?" asked Mr. Graboed, testily.

"He says he wants to get your views on the European situation."

"Tell him I'm not competent to discuss the question. I don't even know what's become of that poet, musician or something or other who captured Flume."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

World's Largest Organ.

The largest organ in the world will be installed in the cathedral now nearing completion in Liverpool. This mammoth among musical instruments will have no fewer than 10,567 pipes and 215 stops, each actuated by its separate draw-stop knob.

Matching His Boast.

Interested Friend—Why did you give the young man I sent you only a "supper" part to the play?

Manager—Because from his own account he was such a broth of a boy.

You will decide his destiny Nov. 2

A LITTLE CHILD SHALL LEAD THEM.

Out of all the jabs and hubbub, threats and unrest, graft and greed, charges and counter-charges, distrust and squabbles of a torn and war-wrenched world, what a respite it is to have the leading men of a great state—men wholly at variance in the majority of their ideas and ideals—put aside personal and political prejudices, and unite on the great fundamental question of child welfare.

Surely it is a glimmer of the Star in the East that has been all but obscured for so long by threatening clouds of world-chaos; a presage of reaction bound to come, bringing with it a return to our old ideals of right and justice and good-will to all mankind.

We refer to the enthusiastic and unequivocal endorsement of the educational amendment given by the following men—copies of which have been furnished this paper:

John Culbertson, Republican candidate for Governor of Texas.

Pat Neff, Democratic candidate for Governor.

T. H. MacGregor, American party candidate for Governor.

R. E. Thomason, speaker of the House of Representatives.

Ben F. Looney, for six years Attorney General of Texas.

George H. Slater, President of the Labor Union of Texas.

In addition, the chambers of commerce of the state are solidly behind the amendment, also the American Legion, democratic republican, labor, religious and American party press.

And, finally, the women of the state in one solid, unyielding phalanx are demanding equal rights and a "fighting chance" for all Texas children, and that the existing discrimination in educational affairs be blotted from our statute books forever.

Indications are that the children's battle for ballots will prove the most popular ever waged in the Lone Star State.

PLAYING THE GAME.

How are we "playing the game" of life?

This is one of the most marked of the many tests of character. How are we conducting ourselves toward others?

M. for instance, your district is financially embarrassed, and unable to vote additional support for your schools, is there any reason why you should object to granting other districts the power to support their schools better if they so desire?

Voters should bear in mind that this amendment is not proposed for this year's schools only; its purpose is to give Texas schools the power to make progress in the future, as their financial conditions permit.

About two hundred Texas towns last year held a nine months' term only through private subscription. In other towns the mothers were forced to work for days on dinners, concerts, tag days and various methods of raising funds to assure nine months' schooling for their children. These are willing and eager to support their schools. Shall they be denied this?

Will you not "play the game" according to the rules and by your acts on November 2 accord them the privilege of attending to their own affairs?

"It matters not how long we live, but how."

A raising of intelligence should mean a raising of proficiency.

WHY CITIES ARE JOINING HANDS WITH TEXAS CHILDREN'S ALLIES, THE EDITOR

With Rural Communities in Behalf of the Educational Amendment.

There are cities in Texas operating under special charters, and therefore not limited to 50 cents on the one hundred dollars valuation for their local school funds. And yet all of these cities, without exception as far as known, are very much interested in the present tax amendment campaign, and are making every effort to see it carry. It may be asked why these cities are so interested, if their schools are not affected by the passage of the amendment.

The answer is not far to seek. The cities realize fully that the hope of Texas lies in her rural communities, and that the most vital problem confronting America today is the restoration of rural life to its former attractiveness, so as to stop the present wholesale movement of our rural population to the cities. No one who appreciates what a strong rural population means to a state and nation can help being alarmed at the growth of city population and the marked decline of rural population that is shown in the present census. The cities themselves realize that this is a bad sign. They realize that Goldsmith was right when he wrote:

"Ill fares the land to hastening ills a prey Where wealth accumulate and men decay."

Under the present provision of the constitution we have a condition as undemocratic as could well be imagined. Its effect will be to make the city schools better, and the rural schools worse. It will mean the continued movement from the country to the city of the best elements of our rural population, those who are determined not to allow their children to be handicapped by poor school facilities. Under the present constitution the cities have every advantage.

In spite of this fact, the cities are strong for the amendment. They realize that the hope of Texas lies in a well educated rural as well as urban population. They do not want to build up their schools and their population at the expense of their surrounding rural territory. They know that Texas, to remain truly prosperous, must have a happy and contented and an educated rural population, and that the chief way for this to be brought about is to give the common school districts of Texas the same chance to have good schools as is now enjoyed by those cities operating under special charters. Our city and rural schools must develop hand in hand. They are both parts of our school system. They should enjoy the same privileges.

"You can fool some of the people all of the time; all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

And if the educational amendment passes, in another generation you can't fool any of the people all of the time. They'll be as wise as the guys who now do the fooling.

"I shall not pass this way again."

Ever thought about it? Then why not mark your passing with a few unselfish deeds? Work and work hard for the educational amendment.

Vote and your state is with you.

Slack and its your own mischance.

For the Lone Star State is changing its gait.

And bidding its kiddies "advance."

WHY CITIES ARE JOINING HANDS WITH TEXAS CHILDREN'S ALLIES, THE EDITOR

With Rural Communities in Behalf of the Educational Amendment.

Cities have a right to make a kind of a school they see fit; the town and the country have not this right. Cities have a right to manage the affairs without interference; the town and the country have not. In other words, the cities are capable of self government while the towns and country are not.—McGregor Mirror.

Are the schools to become mere cant institutions? Must they be supported by periodical begging campaigns? It is a fine thing for the people of a community to prove their belief in education by raising a popular subscription for its support with enthusiasm. It has been a fine thing in many communities in the state. It will not be a fine thing if it becomes a habit. And, besides, it is democratic. The burden of making the deficit is not equitably distributed. What's to be done about it?

The answer is: Adopt the educational amendment to the constitution which is to be voted on at the November election.—Palestine Herald.

Help make it possible to save schools of Texas and vote for the educational amendment November 2. Amarillo Tribune.

The primary schools are more important than any others, meaning primary those schools which are reading, writing and arithmetic. A nation without high education can't give the competition of competing nations, but a nation whose people can't decipher plain print or sign names or do simple sums with figures must take its place with the semi-barbarians, of which there are already some on earth.—State Press, Lubbock News.

The amendment will give power to cities only, to all communities.—Nacogdoches Sentinel.

The amendment ought to carry, press and public should co-operate in making a campaign for its success, the last week preceding the election.—Beaumont Enterprise.

We of the cities should not be content to rest on the fact that we have good schools; we should see that our country neighbor should have good schools, in which the youth of the country can receive the rudiments of an education.

Give the country school a chance going to the polls November 2, voting for the amendment to the constitution. Remember you do not pay taxes; you merely authorize them to raise them that wish to do so. local option.—Brownsville Herald.

The "Better Schools Campaign" the well-arranged, intensive campaign being conducted throughout Texas month in behalf of the adoption of this proposition to liberalize, modernize and practicalize is indispensable and it must be carried to success through popular participation in every organized co-operation in every school district, in every community.—Antonio Express.

We Texans rather like to talk about our state. We talk about size and we go unchallenged speak of its history and nobody puts our claim that it is glorious. We have yet to hear the first boast that his state in the past are literary stands thirty-ninth and the states of the Union.

Talk to your neighbors about proposed educational amendments. See that it is not defeated for lack of understanding or lack of interest.—Christian Advocate.
